RESOURCES 2017

These resources were compiled through the Centre for Music, Liturgy and the Arts for an event exploring Lent and Easter in 2017. They represent a broad network of creative worship leaders, songwriters, liturgists, scriptwriters and poets all who offer their gifts in their local communities. We give thanks for their willingness to share these through the Centre and offer them to others who strive to create meaningful and engaging worship throughout the seasons of the church year. Thank you to the Events Team of the Centre for compiling these resources and encouraging the involvement of the artists represented. Thank you to Alan McKee at MediaCom for your design work and for the support of MediaCom in producing this booklet.

A word about copyright and availability of resources:

Honouring the work of these artists is important to the Centre. The resources in this booklet are provided to support meaningful worship in your ministry context. The writers and artists have generously offered their gifts and have given permission for you to use these resources in a worship setting. This does not give you permission to use these resources for any financial gain. Please acknowledge authorship and copyright when you use it. If a songwriter is registered with a copyright license such as LicenSing or Christian Copyright Licensing International (CCLI) please record your use of their work when you complete your copyright reporting.

The Centre for Music, Liturgy and the Arts is a Mission Resourcing ministry centre of the Uniting Church in South Australia. The Centre is supported by tax deductible gifts and donations. You can find out more about being involved and supporting the Centre at www.cmla.org.au

We hope that your community experiences the love, grace and encouragement of God through the seasons of Lent and Easter and that these resources support the ministry and mission of your community.

Grace and peace,

Rev Jennifer Hughes
